MILTON HERSHEY SCHOOL

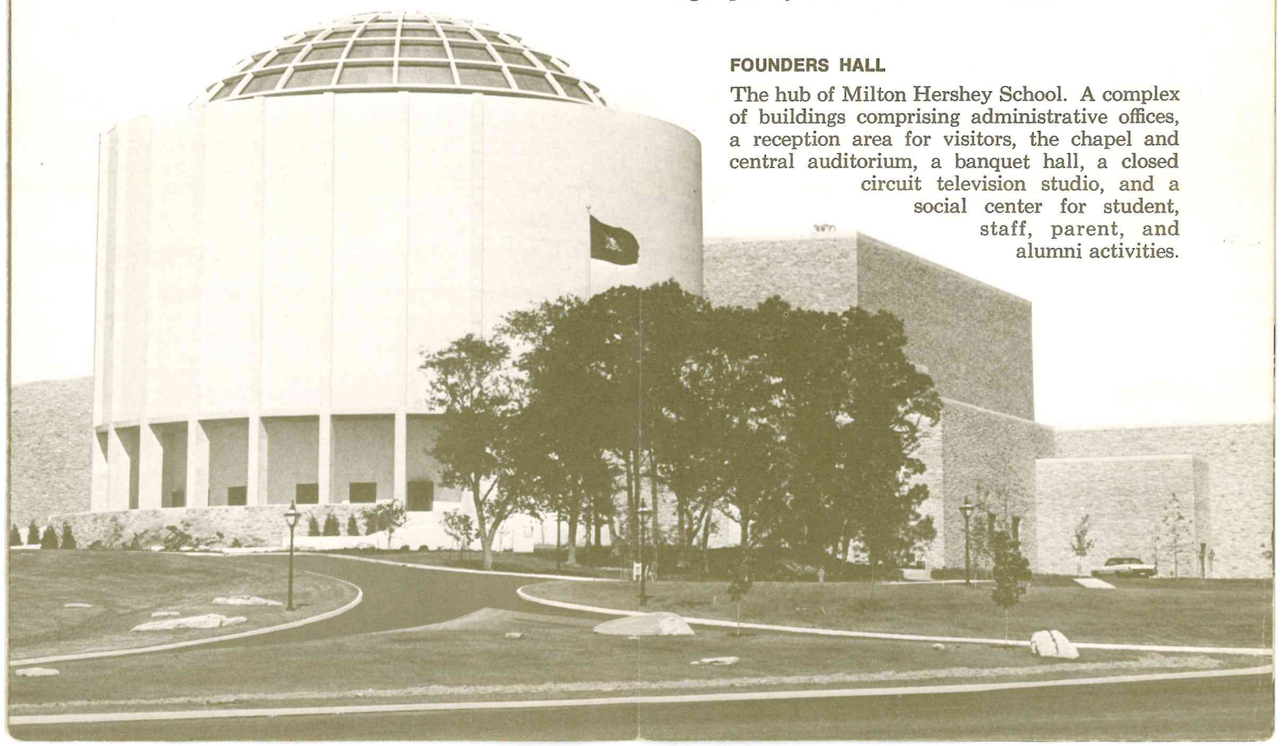
A privately endowed school where boys, with one or both parents deceased, live in family groups in the country and prepare for college and for careers in business and industry

From a humble beginning in 1909, the School has grown to an enrollment of nearly 1500 boys. The educational and living facilities are located on 10,000 acres of beautiful land amidst the foothills of the Blue Mountains. The School has become widely known for the quality of its educational offerings and for the personalized attention given to the social, physical, and emotional needs of each student.

Enrollment is a partnership between the sponsor of the boy and the School. Family ties are kept strong through letters, regular visits, and special functions.

The story of the School founder, Milton S. Hershey, is one of a great industrialist and a humanitarian who left a living heritage for boys. All costs for education, board, lodging, clothing, and health services are borne by the School. After graduation, assistance is offered in job placement and an educational aid plan helps qualified students to continue formal study beyond high school.

Excellent staff, facilities, and program assures high quality of services to each student.



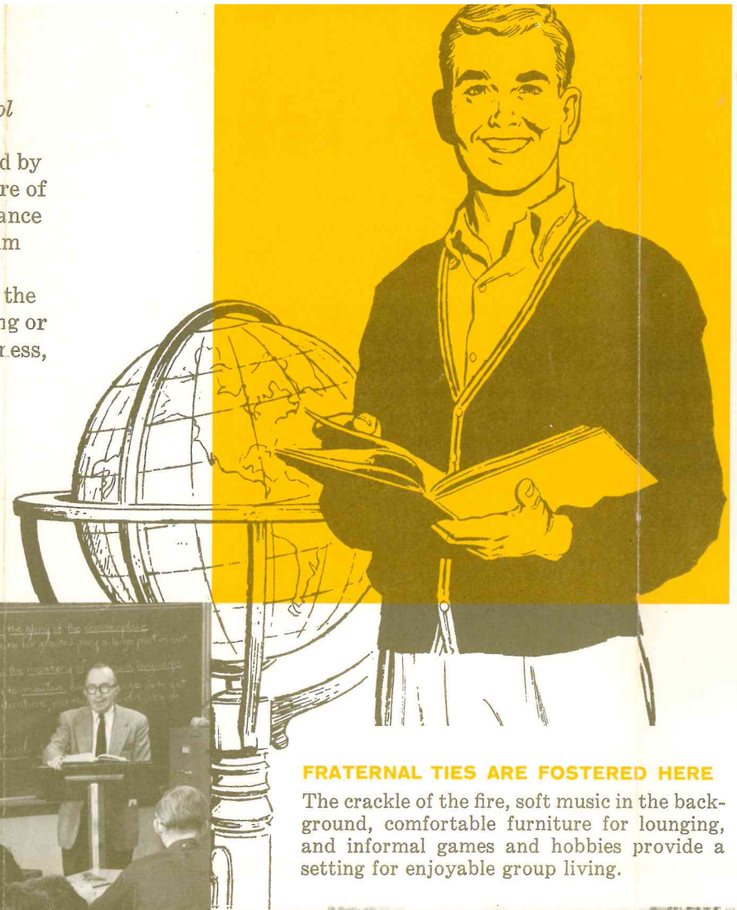
FOUNDERS HALL

The hub of Milton Hershey School. A complex of buildings comprising administrative offices, a reception area for visitors, the chapel and central auditorium, a banquet hall, a closed circuit television studio, and a social center for student, staff, parent, and alumni activities.

THE SCHOOL OFFERS

An education—from kindergarten through high school

The natural desire of young boys to learn is stimulated by creative projects and the informal, friendly atmosphere of busy classrooms. With the help of the vocational guidance counselor, each boy chooses the Senior High curriculum which he feels is best for him. This may be a college preparatory program if he is planning to enter one of the professions. Otherwise, he may choose business training or one of the vocational courses which include: agri-business, auto mechanics, carpentry, electricity, electronics, food services, general building trades, machine shop practice, plumbing and heating, printing, and sheet metal, welding, and refrigeration. School life is enriched culturally through activities such as membership in the Glee Club or Band and socially through parties, dances, and community events.

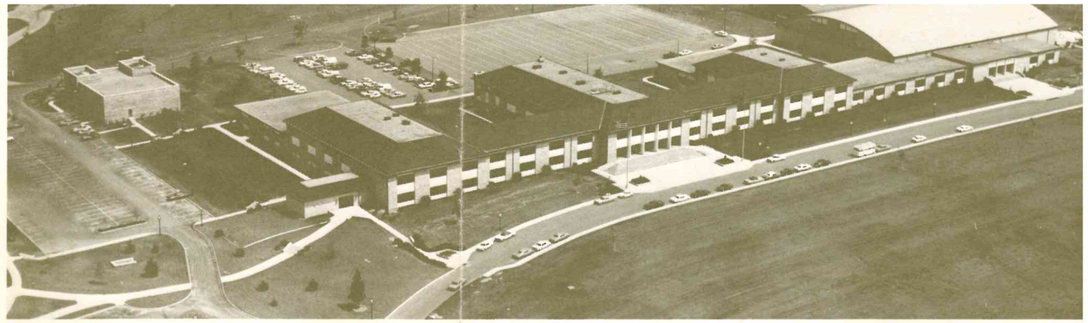


FRATERNAL TIES ARE FOSTERED HERE

The crackle of the fire, soft music in the background, comfortable furniture for lounging, and informal games and hobbies provide a setting for enjoyable group living.

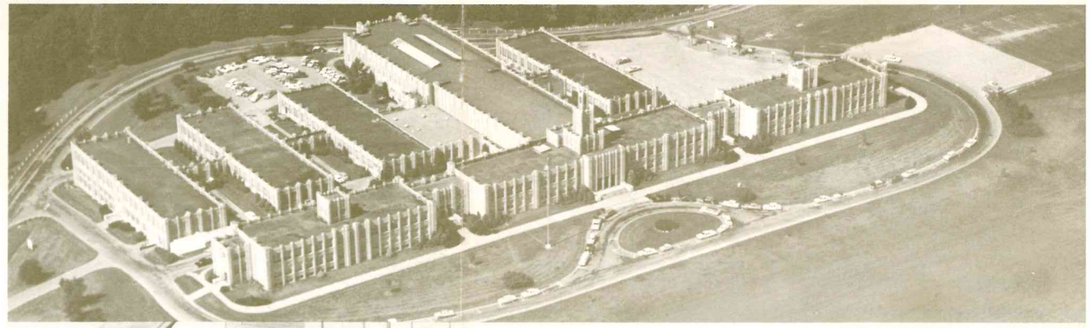
TEACHING BECOMES MORE PERSONAL WITH SMALL CLASSES

The teacher is interested in the individual needs of each boy. Instruction goes beyond knowledge and skill, concerning itself with motivation, good attitudes, and a vision for the future.



CATHERINE HALL

The educational and central recreational facility for the Intermediate Division where boys develop their sense of direction. Skillful help is given in the form of exploratory shop training, aptitude and interest testing, occupational study and field trips, and personal counseling with guidance counselors.



SENIOR HALL

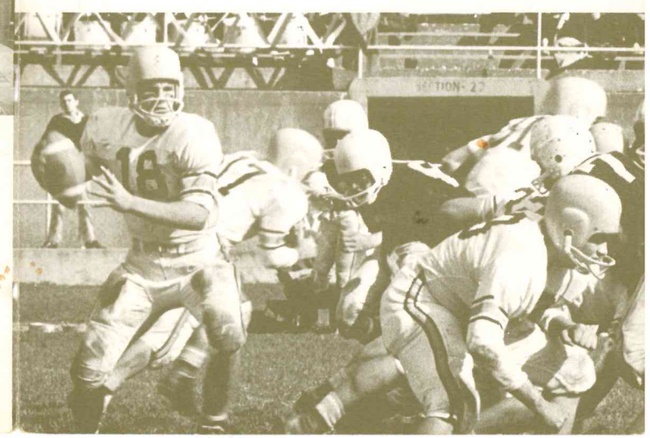
The educational center for young men in grades 9 through 12. Exceptionally fine facilities which meet the varied educational needs of the students. College preparatory, business, and vocational-technical curricula enable each boy to select the curriculum suited to his abilities and interests.

LEARNING WITH UNDERSTANDING

Extensive scientific and technical training provide better preparation for employment or advanced study.

THE SPIRIT OF SUCCESSFUL COMPETITION

Varsity sports and intramural activities emphasize physical development, sportsmanship, and team play.



John prepares for an evening in town while his roommate studies diligently for that special test.

FAMILY LIFE IN THE COUNTRY

Small groups of boys with friendly houseparent couples live in comfortable homes with a view of sloping fields, brooks and ponds, trees, and hills in the distance. There is a full schedule of home study, family chores, and a host of hobby and recreational activities. It is an exciting, vigorous, and wholesome life.
